

Calumet College of St. Joseph

Calumet College of St. Joseph offers relevant, career-oriented undergraduate and graduate programs for working adults and traditionally aged students. Its accelerated undergraduate programs are particularly attractive to working adults with some prior college experience. The college, which boasts an eight-sport athletics program, is a private, Catholic institution sponsored by the Cincinnati Province of the Missionaries of the Precious Blood. It is located in Hammond, Indiana, though it has a Whiting mailing address. The faculty, administration and staff seek to provide an academic environment that is responsive, personal and challenging. The average class size is 15. This allows professors and students to get to know one another as individuals. No one gets lost in a crowded lecture hall. Day, evening and weekend classes are available.
